Secretary Wolff in The Classroom

While many agricultural concepts can be learned in a classroom they can be greatly enhanced by reaching beyond the walls of a school. This section offers information on hands-on learning opportunities as well as fun projects to complete for schools or fairs. Here you'll find cool places to surf on the web as well as a list of speakers who can bring additional insight and expertise to a subject. And each quarter we'll feature a teacher who gives agricultural education a special twist!

For those who desire to extend their agricultural education we provide information on professional development events and workshops. This section highlights higher educational institutions which feature curriculums related to agriculture. Here you'll also find details about scholarship opportunities in agricultural education and even details about grant programs. This section includes resources to help you write those grant proposals.
