

January 3, 2007

NEW YORK: Snowfall during December was almost nonexistent while temperatures averaged well above normal, making outside activities less of a chore. The western part of the state received some lake effect snow during December. Major activities: tending livestock, spreading manure, machinery repair and maintenance, grading and packing onions, apples, potatoes, and cabbage, orchard clean up, and preparing facilities for winter.