

American farmers grow the food that feeds the world.