USDA to Measure Farmland Rental Rates

Nashville, Tennessee – Beginning in February, the U.S. Department of Agriculture’s National Agricultural Statistics Service will contact Tennessee farmers to gather land rental rate information for the Cash Rents and Leases survey. The results of this survey will serve as a valuable decision-making tool for farmers and other landowners and will help shape negotiations for 2017 rental agreements.

“This brief survey is our only source of county cash rental rates,” said NASS’ Tennessee Field Office Director Debra Kenerson. “By responding, producers help the farming community and ensure USDA bases its decisions on the most accurate data.” NASS will publish average cash rental rates at national, state and county levels for non-irrigated cropland, irrigated cropland, and pastureland on September 9, 2016.

More than 8,000 of Tennessee farmers will receive the survey forms. NASS offers the option of responding online via a secure Internet connection. In April, NASS representatives will begin calling and visiting landowners who have not yet responded.

“We guarantee confidentiality of all individual information, regardless of the respond method participants choose, as required by federal law,” Kenerson said. “NASS will combine your responses with your fellow producers nationwide, providing the only accurate and comprehensive estimate of U.S. average rent and lease rates.”
